On Life and Love and Why We Are Here : An Introduction to the New Spirituality for Beginners

Jesuis Laplume

On Life and Love and Why We Are Here is intended to be an introduction to the combination of a) the concepts developed at the leading edge of many sciences and b) the new spirituality attempts to redefine what the Why questions of Religions were, before the bureaucracies of Religion debased them for the secular power of their corporate organization. The book is actually part of the authors search for Who he is, Why he is here, What this journey is all about and When he will know that he is on the right path for his journey. It is intended, as well, to be of help to others who are starting a search to find the answers to those same questions. Humanity is evolving from a fear-based Homo sapiens, the thinking humankind, to a love-based Homo spiritus, the loving humankind. It is likely that we humans turned the corner, spiritual-power-wise, in 2012, although that was not widely publicized. In any case there is now a critical number of humans who make love and loving their main point in life and the effect will expand exponentially over the next few decades. Love trumps fear every time. The book presents a series of sayings that came to the author as he fell asleep or woke up, plus one page of commentary on those sayings. The reader is challenged to take, from what is presented, only those things that will make the reader a better person - that choice is to be between them and their maker, however such a creator is defined by them. The reader is also challenged to determine whether or not they can see different meanings in the sayings, as well as determine whether or not they want to make the understanding that they get from the sayings a new part of their life, or an essential part of their new life. The central message is based on an understanding of Jesus Christs explaining who God was, and what He was like. Since the Holy Spirit was sent to us, and our God is a good and loving and compassionate God, and we were made in His /Her image, we are little packets of God and have significant spiritual power when we come to terms with that awesome reality. Those with power and money, including churches, do not want us to realize that we are eternal spiritual beings having a human experience. The human journey, or human school, is uniquely set up for us to learn about our weak areas, strengthen them through love and then let the frightened part just float away. Everyone we meet has some help to give us, if only in how to deal with negativity and fear-based hate or anger. The point is made that the Old Testament if the Christian Bible is a history lesson that helps us understand who Jesus Christ was and why he had to come to tell us a better story about who God was and what that God was really like. If we can become unconditionally loving in this journey there are still several levels to climb to make it to the point where our bodies can no longer contain our level of spiritual power and we, too, would have to leave this plane. From those who have gone before, each step is scary, but each is also worth the effort. The book included a list of contact points for teachers who have more to offer than this author has, as well as a section in the authors web site, <http://spiritloves.com>, with an extended bibliography of their work.
