

Onkologie - Die Tumorerkrankungen Des Menschen : Entstehung, Abwehr Und Behandlungsmöglichkeiten

Hans-Harald Sedlacek

This book discusses the biochemical, biomolecular, and physiological causes of malignant tumors as well as their risk factors, propagation, diagnostics, and treatment. Written concisely and accompanied by illustrative tables, it gives doctors and other healthcare professionals comprehensive information. For each type of tumor, the book describes risk factors, oncogenes, mutated tumor suppressor genes, developmental stages, classifications, diagnostic procedures, and current therapies.
