

The Online Dating Journal : A Comprehensive Journal to Record Your Online Dating Contacts and Experiences

Anita P Miller

The Online Dating Journal The necessary accessory for online dating! Online dating is a growing phenomenon and projected to be the most effective way to find your life companion. On average, you will spend three to twenty-four months searching for your soul mate. (Yes, love is patient.) With so many contacts made through this form of dating, its difficult to remember who contacted whom and when. Have you ever asked yourself, Is it Debbie, Denise, or Sherri who loves gardening? or Is it Robert or Marco who loves dogs? The Online Dating Journal provides you with a method to track the members you meet online. As you combine multitasking and dating, The Online Dating Journal assists in tracking your online dating details. It provides the following: Tracking methods to quickly identify potential mates Separate journal pages to easily recognize each contact A method to record pertinent personal data (a safety and recollection feature) A systematic approach to maintain organization when contacting other members Instructions on how to effectively use the journal Creative virtual dating event ideas The Online Dating Journal is the little black book of the future. What are you waiting for? Lets start dating!
